PORTUGUESE IN ANNUAL FEAST

Religious Festival of Holy Ghost Celebrated Today and Tomorrow.

The Portuguese national religious festival of the Holy Ghost is being celebrated today at the Catholic cathedral, a joint religious and secular commemoration being held, although the occasion is almost entirely the outgrowth of religious custom.

In the big mission yard preparations were completed this morning for the bazaar, which will be one of the features of the festival. The ceremonies open this afternoon when the bishop carries the crown to the altar, where it will rest until tomorrow. At 10:30 o'clock tomorrow, morning high pon-tiffal mass will be celebrated by Bishop Libert, and Father Stephen will deliver a sermon.

The bazaar opens this evening, and elaborate decorations of all kinds, with electric lighting, will transform the mission yard into a gay and picturesque scene. The mission band, directed by Father Ulrich, will play both this evening and tomorrow afternoon, the festival continuing for two days.

The festival and the customs observed in connection with it are those of the Madeira Portuguese. It is said that the festival commemorates a vow taken by St. Elizabeth, that she would give a banquet to the poor if a devastating epidemic should cease. Several different versions of the story have been given, and the observance of the festival varies in different parts of Portugal. Next Sunday the Portuguese of St. Michael will observe the feast on Punchbowl.

FLORAL PARADE DATE WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Daniel O'Connell of Manila has written a letter to the Hawaii Promotion Committee asking if it is not possible that Manila and Hawaii cooperate in holding their annual festivals, so that the traveling public could take in both. O'Connell is a personal friend of H. P. Wood and his suggestion was received and considered by the Promotion Committee yesterday afternoon. However, the Promotion Committee feels that February 22 is a date with a special significance and that Honolulu's reputation of holding the Floral Parade on this date has already been fixed, so that it would be unwise to change.

Secretary Wood reported to the committee yesterday afternoon of the speedy progress of plans for arranging interchangeable steamer tickets for tourists. The letter from Castle & Cooke, published in the Bulletin yesterday, was taken up by the committee, and an early reply from the T.
K. K. line is expected.

The magazine editors who have been muckraking all their lives are seeing that the thing must end, and that the only step toward progress consists in building man up.

DARROW NOW IN TIMES CASE

Was Chief Counsel in Great Labor vs. Capital
Idaho Trial.

Clarence Darrow of Chicago, upon whom the legal burden of the defense of the accused Los Angeles dynamite men will fall, arrived in San Francisco last night and will remain here in consultation with union labor officials until this evening, when he will leave for the southern city. Darrow took a suite at the Palace Hotel, where he was in conference last night with a number of prominent local labor leaders, says the San Francisco Examiner.

Darrow spoke frankly last night of his connection with the Los Angeles dynamite cases, but declared that he was in ignorance of the merits of any of the charges and was in no position to express an opinion regarding the manner in which they would be conducted. He said that until he had visited Los Angeles and gone to the bottom of the matter he would be unable to make any statement concerning the nature of the defense.

Darrow Explains Point.

In the course of an extended conversation regarding the Los Angeles cases Darrow made but one statement that might be regarded as throwing light upon the theory of the defense. He called attention to the fact that the case outlined by the prosecution rests upon the alleged plot of officials of the international union of structural iron workers to destroy a number of buildings by dynamite, and then pointed out that neither J. B. McNamara nor Orrie McManigal, who are accused of the actual carrying out of the crime, is a member of that particular union.

Darrow said, however, that he had no personal knowledge of the cases, except what he had learned from the newspapers and through correspondence with Leo M. Rappaport of Indianapolis, general attorney for the structural iron workers' international union.

Employed by Union.

"I do not know either of the McNama-ras personally, unless possibly I may have met J. J. McNamara at some national convention," he said. "I was employed in the case by the international organization of structural iron workers, and since taking up the case I have had no opportunity to see or speak to any of the defendants. I am now on my way to Los Angeles, where I expect to engage actively in the matter."

In response to the suggestion that he would be the chief counsel for the accused, Darrow said that he did not know exactly what part he would play, as other attorneys had preceded him in the case.

"All I can say about the case," he said, "is by hearsay. As regards the merits of it I know nothing. My only consultation has been with Mr. Rappa-port by mail, and that has been entirely in regard to my employment and has had nothing to do with the merits of the accusation. Until I have gone to Los Angeles I have nothing to say."

Dined With Labor Leaders.

Darrow was met shortly after his arrival in San Francisco by a number of union labor leaders and dined at the Palace with O. A. Tvetmoe, Andrew Gallagher and B. B. Rosenthal.

Darrow's greatest fame as a union labor attorney was gained when he appeared as chief counsel for the defense in the trial of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone in Idaho, when three officers of the Western Federation of Miners were on trial for the alleged murder of Governor Steunenberg. The acquittal of the three defendants was largely due to the masterful manner in which he handled the case.

WORKS OF D'ANNUNZIO CONDEMNED BY VATICAN

ROME, May 15.—The Vatican or-more strictly speaking the Congregation of the Index, has placed upon the Index Expurgatorius all the novels and dramatic works of Gabriele d'Annunzio, a famous Italian poet and aesthete.

"Lella," the novel by the distinguished Italian author Antonio Fogazzaro, who died in March, has also been placed in the same catalogue of books Catholics are forbidden to read. Another of his novels, "The Saint," which was published five years ago, was put on the same list at that time.

SAYS MUCKRAKING PASSING.

OMAHA, May 15.—"The age of muckraking is coming to an end and the magazines and newspapers are going to turn their attention toward religion," said James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank of New York, in an address to-day before the Ministerial Union.

"If there is not the greatest ingathering to the churches it will be the fault of the men of the churches, for we are to have the subject of religion so 'played up' in the papers and magazines that the man who wants to promulgate religion will not have a single excuse for failing to get busy among his friends and neighbors."

consists in building man up.

ST. LOUIS BOYS SCORE SUCCESS

Show Great Dramatic Ability In Giving Historic Drama
With All-Male Cast.

Pupils of St. Louis College are scoring a marked success in presenting this week the historic drama, "The Dead Witness." The first performance took place in St. Louis College hall on Thursday night, and tonight the young actors will give another.

The play is laid in the time of King Henry V., and all the parts are taken by the St. Louis boys. The college chorus, of more than 100 fine voices, and the college orchestra give selections before the play opens and between acts. The cast of characters is as follows:

King Henry V.....Anthony Franco Richard, Duke of Kent.....
..... Thomas Onokra Henry, Lord Falmouth (brother of Kent)..... Wm. Haia
Alfred and Edwin (children of Kent)
..... Herman Luiz, Willie Luiz Tyrral (servant of Henry).....
..... Alfred Thevenin
Merlin..... J. Bal
Duke of Norfolk, Earl of Dorset (courtiers).....
..... Thomas Lincoln, Henry Tallant Mendeville, Cantwell, Orton (friends of Henry).....
Henry Hickey, Clyde Baldwin, William Ziegler.
William (an idiot).....Leon Sterling Gipsy Boy.....John O'Dowda

SURF BOARDS ON SCREEN

After accepting Governor Frear's invitation to take hold of the getting together of an Hawaiian Exhibit for the "See America First" convention in Baltimore next January, the Hands Around the Pacific directorate adjourned to the Empire theatre yesterday afternoon to see the motion pictures of surfing stunts at Waikiki taken by M. Bonvillian of Pathe Freres last year. These films were sent to A. H. Ford and will form the beginning of the exhibit for the See America First and the Round America exhibition train from the Pacific.

The surfing pictures were run off before the members of the club and several of the young men who helped Bonvillian by doing their stunts in the waves. The scene starts in the grassy village of the Outrigger Club with the youngsters running for their boards and launching them, then the race out, and the exciting incident of a race against the waves between a surfboard and a canoe—the surfboard won hands down. Next there were the regular surfing stunts, Kaute Peterson, Duke Pauoa, Ted and Francis Cooper, Alfred Young Harry Steiner, Bob Foster, Marsden Campbell, eel-like Harold Hustace and the host of Outrigger experts came tumbling in before the waves true to life. There were mix-ups and splendid runs. One dramatic mix-up of three boards was shown in detail.

There was some real excitement in the theatre when the races between the surfboards and canoes before the waves took place, for there was some dispute as to the winner at the time but the pictures showed clearly just who the winners were. Some of the witnesses of their pranks on the boards were astonished to see how it looks to others.

Taken altogether the Pathe Freres films are well worth preserving in the pictorial archives of the Public Service Association for the edification of visitors until they are sent East.
They are the best yet taken, but the French titles about "Les Surfboards" puzzled some of the select audience yesterday.

In the novel farming of T. V. Riordan, of London, a positive electric current of 100,000 volts or more is sent through a network of wires at a height of 6 to 15 feet, and the nitric oxides produced are supposed to be washed by atmospheric moisture into lime spread on the soil. The ultraviolet light resulting is one of the best of manures.

Emma Lake, a famous circus equestienne and beauty, died in a sanitarium at Morris Plains, N. Y.
